As soon as the IRS releases your refund, we will deduct the amount you agreed to pay from the refund and then Tricolor will send a check for the balance to the dealership where you purchased the vehicle. The IRS can take up to six weeks in some cases, but the usual time frame is 2-3 weeks for the whole process.

Good question! If you owe money, you will have some penalties and interest that the IRS will charge on top of the tax you owe. If you are getting a refund, nothing really changes on April 15th, the government just keeps your money longer.

10. Do I get my reimbursement check from Tricolor or the IRS?

The money from the IRS will be printed on a check from Republic Bank. Then, Tricolor cashes the amount accorded with you and then prints a Tricolor check for the final balance. That is sent to the dealership along with the tax return.
